

21st European Gas Conference

Norwegian gas in Europe – what's next?

Due to the increasing spread of Covid-19, the Norwegian Petroleum Society (NPF) has decided to arrange this year's European Gas Conference as a webinar.

NATURAL GAS - FACTS AND PREDICTIONS

In the years ahead of us, the European energy market will be impacted by energy efficiency measures, heat decarbonisation and the changing nature of electricity generation. While European gas consumption is set to remain almost flat in the coming years, domestic production is set to fall at an average rate of 3.5% per year. This structural decline in domestic production, combined with the expiry of several long-term pipeline contracts, opens opportunities.

The annual European Gas Conference is a networking arena where knowledge sharing is a key component. Day one will be setting the scene for European Gas Markets. Day two will look at the Norwegian Continental shelf development and investor perspective.

Benefits of participating at a webinar:

- Easy access to updated industry news and professional input
- Flexible! Follow the webinar from a screen of your choice
- Save time! You do not have to travel and be away from family or work for days
- Save money! No travel expenses or hotel accommodation
- Watch the webinar at your own pace in a safe environment.

28–29 October 2020

Info and sign-up at npf.no

NB! Reduced prices and group discounts

